2. What's accounted for — and what's left

The 1031 exchange deadlines have expired, so the sale taxes are now owed unless a cost segregation study offsets them. The tax line below uses the last figures on record — please confirm with Payton (CPA).

ALREADY ACCOUNTED FOR	DETAIL	AMOUNT
Taxes owed on the condo sales	204: $20,500 (Payton, Aug 11) + 206: ~$21,056 estimate. Due Apr 15, 2027. Of this, $17,848.40 was set aside; ~$23,707.60 is not yet funded.	$41,556.00
Missouri bucket	Winter carry $4,627.92 + design refresh $4,000.00 + fire tags $120.00	$8,747.92

Accounted for		$55,274.63
NOT YET SPOKEN FOR — available for the next property		$121,328.48

Your goal for the next property is $140,000. With the taxes paid in full, the money not yet spoken for is $121,328.48 — about $18,671.52 short of that goal. A cost segregation study could shrink the tax line and close part of that gap. The Asset Preservation fee was already paid out of the API payout, so it is no longer a line. Personal items (Washington property-hunt Airbnb, education travel) come from savings, not from this money.

3. Missouri bucket — $8,747.92

The plan stops at February. The MO easement ($1,000) is paid from operations and is not in this bucket.

4. Paying down the credit card today

#	FROM	TO	AMOUNT
1	Dome	Place (covers the Nov 2 FCS pull)	$350.00
2	Front Beach 206	Credit Card Holdings (GLJA)	$147.47
3	JN Securities	Credit Card Holdings (GLJA)	$3,703.93
4	Credit Card Holdings	Capital One Spark (due Nov 20)	$3,851.40

The $3,703.93 from JN comes from the Missouri design refresh ($2,912.80 — the cabin redesign purchases on the card) and $791.13 of unearmarked pool money. The personal share of the card — $4,112.54, including the $539.73 Washington property-hunt Airbnb — comes from savings by Nov 17.

5. Monthly burn and runway

	Google (two accounts)	$16.04
	Wispr Flow	$15.00
	Wave (STR Tech Talk)	$10.00
REAL MONTHLY BURN		$1,578.24

Cleaners are not in the burn — guests pay the cleaning fee, so cleaner pay is a pass-through. AirDNA ($136.38) is left out because it ends when the property is bought. Spendable operating cash is $2,573.37 (above the $50 floors, excluding the 204 hold), so at zero revenue the operating accounts cover about 1.6 months (≈ 49 days).
